COMMUNICATIONS & INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SUMMIT TO BE HELD IN INDIA

London, UK, May 14, 2010: The "Communications & IT in Aviation" Summit will be held on November 2-3, 2010 in Bangalore, India.

Panagiotis Panagopoulos, CEO & Founder of Aeropodium pointed out that "India's growing air traffic and aircraft demands present a challenge for the industry. The first CITA Summit will explore the latest developments in modern technology and new business opportunities and challenges for both operators and manufacturers. Innovation and renovation in aviation have no limits and this event will provide a unique opportunity to discuss all the new developments."

CITA will explore the latest developments in communications and information technology in aviation. The event will provide the platform for high level debate, exchange of ideas and information as well as extensive networking opportunities for aviation executives from India and around the world. Issues to be discussed include regulations, the manufacturers' perspective, new communications systems, satellite communications, creating an office in the sky, a forecast for the future, airports infrastructure and other themes that are related to the communications and IT sector of commercial and business aviation.

Who should attend: Business and corporate aircraft operators and airlines, aircraft manufacturers, airports, consultants and any aviation professional involved with the development of modern technology for aircraft and airports.

This conference is organized by Aeropodium. The Early-Bird Delegate Registration Fee is US$150 and it includes access to the CITA Summit, the networking breaks, and the conference proceedings.
