FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
November 30, 2012

The importance of continuing airworthiness management to be explored in London

London, UK, November 30, 2012: Aeropodium is honoured to announce a new project, the Continuing Airworthiness Management Summit (CAMS). This event will take place on February 1, 2013 and it will be hosted and sponsored by Gates and Partners LLP in central London.

Panagiotis Panagopoulos, CEO and Founder of Aeropodium commented that "CAMS will provide the forum to discuss the benefits of CAMO for aircraft owners and learn about requirements and procedures to establish a CAMO approval. Aviation professionals from around the world will join a high level debate and no speaker is appointed for PR purposes."

This major networking event is organized in association with EnvelopeAPM and it is also sponsored by Airclaims, Adams Aviation, and ATP. It will offer the opportunity to discuss Continuing Airworthiness Management which is becoming more accepted in countries outside the European Union. Continuing Airworthiness Management is widely used with more operators looking towards outsourcing a smoother, less hassle and cost efficient option of aircraft management. This conference project is ideal for international regulators authorities, aircraft operators, MROs, manufacturers, consultants, bankers, airport executives, leasing and financing companies, airworthiness review staff, insurance companies and all professionals with an interest in the latest developments and importance of continuing airworthiness management.

Expert-speakers will contribute to the debate: Jorge C. Colindres Marinakis of the Registry of Aruba, Nick Godwin of Commsoft, Ben Jacques of IBA Group, Claudio Lasagni of Air Service Basel, David Louzado of Airclaims, Bart Mak of Mak Aircraft Engineering Services, Wes Parfitt of EnvelopeAPM, Chris Spencer of Vector Aircraft Services and a senior representative of Gates and Partners.
