Corporate Aviation lands in Miami for USCAS

London, UK, January 18, 2011: USCAS, the US Corporate Aviation Summit will take place in Miami, FL on February 22-23, 2011 and the program includes a Cocktail and Lively Mexican Dinner Reception sponsored by the Registry of Aruba. The event of the year for corporate aviation is also sponsored by TW Metals, Airclaims, Start Pac, Curt Lewis & Associates, and Ravich Law Firm and it is officially supported by the General Aviation Manufacturers Association.

This international Summit will explore the latest developments in the US corporate aviation sector and new business opportunities and challenges. It will also provide the platform for manufacturers and operators as well as any organization interested in this exciting marketplace, to explore all aspects affecting the future of this industry. It is a unique opportunity to debate the future of business aviation, learn about the latest developments in light jets, explore the air taxi market, discuss different business models, enhance your knowledge about the US market, learn about the regional infrastructure development, and network with leading experts as well as corporate aircraft operators.

Panagiotis Panagopoulos, CEO & Founder of Aeropodium pointed out that "the time has come for a high quality networking event that will become the main meeting for the corporate aviation sector in the US. Light jets have taken off successfully and heavy aircraft are also in demand for air charter operations. Let's talk about the future of the industry and the unlimited opportunities for operators and pilot-owners."

USCAS will be Chaired by Timothy M. Ravich (Chair, Florida Bar Aviation Law Committee), Dr. A. Gollan (Senior Security Manager, Black Hawk Protection Services), and Mike Chase (Principal, Chase & Associates).
